May this letter serve to verify that American Integrity Courses' court ordered classes are nationally recognized by State & Local Family Courts as profession self-improvement and self-development programs. Our courses are developed by our in-house health psychologist who has a master's degree in psychology with an advanced degree certificate in health psychology. Her specialization is health and wellness education which is based on motivational interviewing, appreciative inquiry, positive reinforcement testing, praising and self-esteem development and the stages of change philosophy.

All course information strictly adheres to guidelines provided by the American Psychological Association, the US Department of Health & Human Services, the Substance Abuse & Mental Health Services Administration and the National Coalition against Domestic Violence. The goal of our courses is to motivate change through the practice of self-awareness and the development of self-control over thoughts and actions resulting in increased self-esteem and self-efficacy.

Enrollment forms, progress reports and completion documents follow the established guidelines by U.S. court systems. For the benefit of our clients, proof of enrollment, progress reports, achievement certificates and completion status can be obtained by calling or emailing our company directly.

THE FORMAT OF OUR COURSES FOLLOW THESE GUIDELINES:

Course Activities and Role Play Exercises- Course relevant activities and role play exercises help the student relate to the information on a personal level applying course concepts to personal experiences.

External Resources- Students are encouraged to email our in-staff health psychologist or our in-house registered nurse with questions or comments regarding any course material.

Final Assignments- All courses contain final assignment goals designed to summarize key points and encourage and motivate long term attitude change and behavior modification.
